UNION CROWDED BY MANY STUDENTS AT GREAT OPENING "PEP RALLY"

The Principal Present and Gave Special Message to Men in Lower Years—Speeches by Dean Adams, Dr. Caldwell, Dr. Archibald, and Coaches Van Wagner and Shaughnessy—The Highlanders' Band Gave Many Selections—Popular Music by Mandolin Club and McGill Dance Orchestra—Twenty Thousand Smokes Distributed.

"You should come to college not only for business or other selfish interests, but also to make the path of duty more accessible and safer for those who come after you. Off the Campus and on the Campus you are all McGill men and gentlemen always," said Sir Arthur Currie last night to graduates who last night filled the Union to capacity at one of the biggest Pep Rallies in the history of McGill.
The longest "serpent" that Montreal
has ever seen wound it way along St.
Catherine street last night and held up traffic for over fifteen minutes. The "serpent" was a long line of McGill
Freshmen mingled with sophomores,
both anxious to get away to an early start. Another man might have been squeezed into the Union hallway, but undergrads, joined hand in hand, vociferously proclaiming that they were out for gore, that there was no sweater better than that whose colours are red and white.

Long before the time scheduled, a huge crowd gathered at the Union.
Freshmen mingled with Sophomores
both anxious to get away to an early start. Another man might have been squeezed in but it would have been a real man-sized job.
It was just half past seven, when the crowd, composed of full fledged McGill students, and a mob of freshmen left the Union; it was a quarter
past eight when the crowd came back,
all full fledged McGill men, all filled with the real McGill spirit and all loudly demanding a packet of smokes.

Under the excellent leadership of the Royal Highlanders of Canada band,
the contingent marched west on Sherbrooke street, from the Union at 7.30, announcing to all the possible existence of the despised housefly on
"some of you guys."

Wheeling left down Peel street, the noise-mad throng stopped a few seconds at the Mount Royal Hotel, to let the guests know that such a place as McGill existed.

The real fun started on St. Catherine street, where the "serpent" slowly evolved from the embryo. At Mansfield street it was fully mature.
At McGill College Avenue it began its work of destruction winding madly from one side of the street to the other refusing to be balked by auto-street car or limpost. Shouting did not cease for a minute, but the crowds did not stare vacantly wondering what it was all about. They knew what it was all about, they couldn't help knowing; the deafest among them

must have heard.

Proceeding east on St. Catherine street, the battalion then wound up University and then left on Sherbrooke street to the Union.

THE UNION

The crowd seemed to increase in front of the Union, due to the expected crush in squeezing through the front door. The chaps waiting outside for their more fortunate comrades ahead sang and gave the old yell with great vigour and enthusiasm, entirely un-damped by the heavy rainfall. The lobby of the Union was jammed with one of the happiest crowds ever gathered there. As the men moved up the stairs, they formed a rough column
two abreast, and at the first landing
each received a packet of cigarettes.

Twenty thousand cigarettes were distributed during the evening all a gift to the students from a well-known tobacco firm. On the landing song books were sold by three of the most vociferous and chummy bally-hoo men ever known. Past the landing, the slow march developed into one grand rush for the lounge room, or for those with better wind, a climb at head-speed to the brilliantly lighted ballroom. By eight-fifteen every chair in the ballroom had been occupied, with many envious and less speedy individuals on the sharp lookout for an opportunity to seize a temporarily vacant seat. Chaps with somewhat more initiative were bringing chairs upstairs from all parts of the Union, some even attempting a raid on the unsuspecting toilers in the "Daily" office.

BALLROOM FILLED FIRST
The ballroom itself never has been filled with a more loyal crowd. Every class and faculty throughout the University was strongly represented, the gay caps of the freshmen clearly demonstrated the numbers from the first year and lending a delightful touch of colour to the otherwise somberly gathering. The Highlanders' band played excellently, and was heartily appreciated.

Jeff Harding and his two assistant cheer leaders led in the new Locomotive yell which the crowd howled vociferously. Harding already was very hoarse. The gallery was filled, and large numbers standing about the walls. The Highlanders gave another selection, and one's mind was jolted
back to other days when the same moon
which now beamed down from the east wall had beamed on other more formal
—but never more stirring or more loyal gatherings. Many seniors from Science, Medicine and Arts were noticed enjoying it all. Law men were here, there, and everywhere. A chap walking up the centre aisle with perhaps twenty packages of cigarettes immediately was besieged with cries of "Here! O Mac!" Cigarette packages flow to a lucky few.

The happiest thought of all was the playing of "Pack all your troubles
in your old kit bag" by the Highlanders band. The crowd's response was instantaneous and hearty.

Rackam, president of the Union jumped to the platform to explain the slight intermission.

Due to the inclement weather, the parade had been somewhat curtailed, and the men arrived at the Union some time before they were expected and considerably earlier than the speakers of the evening had been led to believe.

He introduced Stan. Read, editor-in-chief of the "Daily," who briefly presented the opportunities of work on the paper and said in part, "You learn a lot of things you never learn before," a statement greatly appreciated by the crowd. Rackam stated strongly the position of the Union and invited patronage from each and every student.

Old friends in the persons of M. ore
Kelly, Lloyd Stevens, Cloutier, and others of last year's McGill Dance Orchestra slipped in as the Highlanders left at eight-forty. The struck up "Hail Alma Mater" and then with the cheer leaders tried out the parody ers left at eight-forty. They struck caught the words and the song "cent over" as very very few have in late years. "Boo-Hoo" was a decided success, and the words rang out from every throat!

As the orchestra played on, Dr.
Adams, Dean of the faculty of Science and vice-principal arrived and was introduced briefly by Rackam.

DR. ADAMS
Dean Adams began, by welcoming the freshmen whom he said already had received a warm welcome at the hands of the sophomores. The freshmen, according to the vice-principal,

STRENGTH OF QUEENS TEAM UNDIMINISHED

Leadley, Evans and McKelvey
Will Play Saturday.

HEAVIER TEAM

Queen's Players Average 7½
Pounds Over McGill Men

If McGill rests on the heavy end of the score next Saturday the fighting spirit that Coach Frank Shaughnessy has tried to instil in his men will be the raison d'être. The latest authentic report from Kingston places the Queens team at full strength. The rumours that have been emanating from the Tri-Color stronghold for the past several days were dispelled last evening when the McGill Daily received the line-up of the Campbell club. Leadley, Evans, and 'Pres' Mundell, who have recently been reported on the sick list, will be in their respective places when the referee's whistle sounds on Saturday. The mysterious ailments that seemed to beset the Queens' stars have miraculously disappeared as they have done on former occasions. Mr. Shaughnessy is to wise a coach to be caught napping,
however, and the McGill team at the present time has had all the attention, coaching and conditioning
it is able to absorb. Saturday will find the "Shagmen" able and ready to fight to the last ditch. The following is the official line-up of the Queens team for Saturday:—
Snap—Evans
Left Half—Mundell
Right Half—Baistone
Centre Half—Leadley

First Meeting of Undergraduate Society Next Monday.

The first meeting of the year of the Medical Undergraduate Society will take place on Monday Oct. 8th, at 8 P. M. in the Assembly Hall of the New Medical Building.
Dr. E. W. Archibald, Professor and Honorary President of the Society who will give an address on, "Student work in other countries." To those who have already heard Dr. Archibald, no further invitation to be present will be necessary—to those who have not, it may be said that Dr.
Archibald has lately been made Professor of Surgery at McGill, that he is a McGill man himself and a master of his profession—having in some operations no equals in America, and above all he is a most popular and interesting speaker.

The meetings of the Medical Society
Society are held twice monthly throughout the year and are not for the men of the upper years only but for each student with faculty of Medicine. They are gatherings when Meds. can mix up in a social way and meet the other fellow, irrespective of the year he is in, and enjoy themselves under different conditions from those of the lecture rooms. Every effort is expended to make the meetings interesting for the man of the first years
as well as the upper class men.

An ample supply of refreshments
will be served.

MONTREAL, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 5, 1923.

THIS AFTERNOON'S CONVOCATION

At five o'clock this afternoon a special convocation and Founder's Day celebration will be held in the Hall of the Royal Victoria College. This event is one of the most important of the session and there are many valid reasons why unanimous support should be given by the student body.

In the first place to-day is one on which every man and woman in attendance at this university should pay special respect to the memory of him, whom we delight to call our father, James McGill. And in very truth he is our father, for the existence of these halls of learning is due to the generosity and foresight of McGill. We all know that our great benefactor died many years ago—many of us have never taken the trouble to find out exactly when—but because of his action great things have come into being, and thousands upon thousands, by coming to this university, have had their lives enlarged and bettered. There have been known cases, however, where undergraduates, who, though they have sung and yelled aloud the praises of McGill, have failed to appear, when they have been called upon to pay annual tribute to his memory. That is the words of some are not in accordance with their actions, and if, we remember rightly, this is not quite as it should be.

Moreover the Principal is to deliver the opening address of the session this afternoon and this should prove of interest to everyone. The newcomers to the university, above all, will undoubtedly find much of value in Sir Arthur's words of welcome, for the Principal's addresses in the past have always contained of sound advice and wisdom.

And lastly there are several degrees, including an honorary one, to be conferred. The ceremony in connection with this is always and interesting one and a pleasing insight into the ways of the greater convocation is given.

Let the undergraduate remember then that the big hour for to-day is five o'clock. We want the R. V. C. hall filled to its utmost capacity and if it is not, we have failed to pay proper respect to the one about whom we sing:

"He's our father, well yes, rather,
James McGill."

A MESSAGE TO FRESHMEN

Last Night's Pep Rally was a brilliant success and those who were in command are to be congratulated upon the heights which were reached during the evening. A fine spirit was in evidence throughout the entire programme and much was accomplished toward the furtherance of a powerful esprit de corps.

The evening had its more serious features, the most important of which was the Principal's address, which was directed particularly toward the men of the lower years. Sir Arthur was certainly right when he said that McGill had passed through times of stress and worry, and pointed out that the graduates carry a great love in their hearts for the Alma Mater of their younger days. But the pith of his brief talk was in regard to an undergraduate's course of conduct during his college days. "The public regard for the university depends upon the way you act in public," said the Principal and if the fifteen hundred men who heard this sentence, take it seriously to heart the good name of the University is exceedingly safe for the present at least.

Sir Arthur also impressed his listeners with the fact that they are entrusted with the upholding of the mighty traditions of the past. Such is a great and almost Herculean task, for when we remember the magnificent records of many of the graduates of the past century, we are staggered with the weight that is placed upon our shoulders. But instead of worrying how we are going to succeed in this, let us rather try to bring even greater glory to the name of McGill, if such a thing is within the possibilities of meagre humans, such as we are.

The freshmen especially were also given a warning regarding the academic side of college life. "If you are not back next year," said the Principal, "it is your own fault." And the sad part of it is that the words of Sir Arthur were true, for the vast majority of failures are inexcusable, without question.

The Principal, in a kindly and friendly way, has presented excellent material upon which we may ponder, and the only question now is: "Shall we remember or shall we idly forget?"

CONDENSED COMMENT

Judging by figures published in yesterday's Daily the average McGill student is a fairly healthy specimen of the human race. Coach Shaughnessy is urging the development of the 'fighting spirit' if we are to win on Saturday. So cease worrying about physical breakdowns and let us unite for the big drive and "fight, fight, fight, for Old McGill, boys."

Last night's parade was featured by orderly conduct and there was nothing to darken the reputation of college students. Thus, in spite of the many statements published to the contrary, we may come to the conclusion that our species is not so irrevocably condemned as is generally conceded in certain quarters.

The local atmosphere, as well as that in the Queen City, is gradually becoming warm over the prospects of intercollegiate golf matches. The idea is worthy of consideration, as it might result in some good competitions. The game is by no means for the elderly man only and it is one of the greatest tests of true sportsmanship in existence.

ALTERATIONS IN C.I.R.F.U. RULES

Interference on Line More Clearly Defined.

The Canadian Intercollegiate Rugby Football Union, having released their rules for 1923, some interest has been evinced in certain changes that have taken place, particularly those referring to interference.

Under the new rules, no interference will be permitted beyond the three-yard limit, extending from touch line to touch line and in all cases, with the exception of a kick, the ball carrier must be the first man through. Certain laxity, however, will be tolerated in the case of end runs when a player having passed the ball is forced to step over the interference zone limit.

In the event of a blocked kick, the wings shall not be penalized for crossing first but a fake kick calls for the ball carrier through first. Running interference is illegal in all parts of the field except as provided above.

To help check up on interference, the head linesman has been given the power to sound his whistle to draw attention to any infractions.

The kick out after a rouge or a safety touch has been abolished and only a scrumpage on the 25 yard line must be taken.

To avoid the confusion of players entering the game while the ball is in motion, a new rule has been made that they can only enter when the ball is dead.

Rough play will be heavily penalized and the referee has been empowered to use his own judgement as to when a man can substitute for a player ruled off for the game.

Other penalties involve a loss of one down on scrumpage plays, for offside, loss of ten yards, for illegal interference, loss of one down and fifteen yards.

The above embodies the main changes and in the initial game against Queen's Saturday the followers of the game will have a chance of seeing how the rules apply.

MONTANA UNIVERSITY

There will be no faculty reception this year, according to President Clapp, who gives lack of funds as the principal reason.

It has been the custom for years to hold this reception early in the fall in order that the new students might get acquainted with the faculty, and likewise, the new members of the faculty with the students. It was deemed such an unwieldy affair last year, however, that it was agreed to dispense with it this fall.

A short time ago, the vice-president of a very well-known Canadian corporation, speaking of one of the many products manufactured by his firm, remarked:

"In the long run, this product is considerably more economical than similar lower-priced articles. In this respect it may be compared with a few other Canadian-made products, for instance, Dack's Shoes."

The logic of this compliment will be apparent to all those who know Dack's Shoes.

J. ROSS NEW PRESIDENT OF SWIMMERS

Urge Freshmen to turn Out With Club.

POLO SCHEDULE

Team to be Chosen for Montreal Meet.

"Win the Senior Water Polo Championship is the slogan of the Swimming Club as evidenced by its meeting held yesterday afternoon in the Board Room of the Union. Great things are looked for this year by the officer of the club in polo and swimming.

Since Mr. Parsons, the former president and Mr. Monroe, the vice-president, have not returned to college this year it became necessary to elect a new officer. The vice-presidency only had to be filled. To this position Mr. Ross was unanimously elected.

Having dispensed with the ceremonial part of the meeting the attention of the goodly number of members was turned to the discussion of business, first among which was the securing of a tank for the lovers of aquatic sport. The secretary announced that the Y. M. C. A. demands were too steep but that the securing of the K. of C. Bath on Mountain Street was practically arranged.

The subject of the development of the speed and distance swimmers of the club as well as the polo players was introduced by one of the members. In view of the coming aquatic meet in Montreal Oct. 26th and 27th, it was deemed wise to give these men some attention. Therefore a motion was introduced which declared that the club would enter a team in the contest. It was proposed that there be two men for the 100 yd. free style, two for the 500 yd. swim and a relay team of four men to be chosen by the coach.

As last year's amateur cards have long since expired the club was reminded that new ones must be procured. The secretary in his official position informed the members that the matter had not escaped notice and that the cards would be in their hands at the earliest possible date.

Coach Mr. Ed. Vernon is again with the team and is very optimistic over the swimming success this year. When they appear at practice tonight at Rubenstein's Tank he is looking for some fine new material. He has sent out a call to the freshmen, who have any swimming ability, that they be on hand to-night. There are positions vacant on both the polo teams.

Several new regulations will be enforced this year. The Polo Teams when playing at home will wear blue caps, when playing away from home white caps. Instead of a whistle to announce time or other causes of cessation or delay a gong will be sounded. By such services the club hopes to facilitate the play and make the games more exciting and enjoyable for their patrons.

President Mr. Ross and Coach Vernon claim that they have something good to offer McGill students if they will get behind the Swimming Club and Boost. Watch the notices for the announcement of practices.

OFFICERS ELECTED FOR SENIOR YEAR

Lawrence C. Tombs New President of Arts '24.

The class of Arts '24 met yesterday afternoon for the purpose of holding the election of officers for the Senior year, and of discussing plans for the session. President Cecil T. Teague occupied the chair and called for nominations for the office of president, resulting in the election by acclamation of Lawrence C. Tombs. The new president thereupon took the chair and the remaining officers were elected—vice-president, F. Campbell Cope; secretary-treasurer, Laurence Sassenwein.

The sports representatives are as follows: baseball, L. Sassenwein, basketball, T. G. Hutton, and hockey, F. C. Cope.

The secretary-treasurer was instructed to collect a class fee of $1.00 from each member. It was decided to elect the graduation officers—Valedictorian, Historian and Prophet not later than the beginning of next term.

OUTLOOK FOR QUEENS GAME VERY BRIGHT

Senior Squad Shows Pep in Light Workout.

GOOD TEAM WORK

Prospects This Year Best Since 1920.

Last night's inclement weather did not prevent the squad from having one of the best practices that have been held so far this season. The chief mentor stated after the game that he was well pleased with the way the team was shaping up. The signal practice was carried on with enthusiasm, and in the light workout that followed with the seconds, speed and precision was much more in evidence than at any previous work-out. Captain MacGregor, who has been out of practice for two or three days with a sore leg was out again in fighting humour. Gordie Hughes' injured ankle is completely healed, and along with Philipps he spent some time in catching punts from Murphy's foot. Eddie Hanna, one of the finds of the season, was not out to practice as he is being saved for Saturday's game. All the rest were there and indulged in a light signal practice. For a few minutes they were pitted against the seconds, then were chased to the showers.

As yet Coach Shaughnessy has not announced the line-up for Saturday's game, but it is very probable that the majority of the players on the firsts and seconds will be given a try-out in the coming contest. On the line are a husky group of fighters in Marston, Selby Cope, Amaron, Starke, Woodruff, Newton, Sommerville, White, Glasco and Willie Mitchell. On the half line there is also some fine material. In Hanna, Hughes, Little, Murphy, Philipps, Baker, Gill and Mickles, the coach has a cornucopia of stars who should show to considerable advantage. Hughes' punting and Hanna's running should prove a strong part of the team's offensive. Little and Philipps are a pair of veterans whose experience and general all-round ability will prove invaluable. In the snap department, Captain MacGregor and his understudy, Norris, should be in first class form by Saturday. In the matter of ends and flying wings McGill is probably better supplied than in any other department. Dyer, Effe, Murphy, Robertson, McGillis and Smith are all speedy in getting down under kixes and are deadly tacklers. Altogether, the prospects for this year's team are much better than they have been for the past two years, and if the team only gets fifty per cent of the breaks a win ought to be registered in Saturday's game against Queen's.

R. V. C. FRESHETTES GIVEN RECEPTION

Common Room is Scene of Happy Event.

The R.V.C. Common Room was the scene of a very happy party yesterday afternoon, the occasion being the annual reception given in honor of the Freshettes by the S.C.A. of R.V.C. Each Freshette, the guest of an upper classman, received a label bearing her name at the door, where she was welcomed by the president, Miss Dawson. A very excellent program, varying from musical numbers to an exhibition of dramatic talent was provided. Miss J. Robbins and Miss K. Perrin caused quite a sensation in their roles of "Romeo and Juliet" which proved to be a very entertaining tragedy. Another interesting item of the program was an illustration to the Freshettes of the manner in which the Seniors learn poetry.

In a few well chosen words Miss Dawson welcomed those who were at McGill for the first time and extended an invitation to all to attend the settling-up conference of the S.C.A., which is to be held at Belmont on Sunday next. There Miss Lorna Kerr, a graduate of the class of '23 addressed the gathering on the meaning of the S.C.A., its aims and connections with the life of the college student. All students who were interested in the S.C.A. movement were urged to join in with those who were already taking part and urged to heartily support and work for it. The speaker also mentioned the conference which was to be held on Sunday and advised all students to take advantage of this opportunity of finding out more of the great work which was being done by the organization.

After a delightful tea was served, a jolly hour was spent with music and dancing, following which the National Anthem and "Hail Alma Mater" were enthusiastically sung as a fitting close to a very enjoyable party.

LISTS FOR FRESH-SOPH FILLING UP

Many More Entries Expected to Come To-day.

TRIAL RUNS

Older Men Will Practice This Afternoon.

Each day the candidates for the track team are showing improvement; this is a hopeful sign and gives promise of an aggregation that is at least a well rounded one. It is a well-known fact that a team which has all the positions filled fairly well often outshines one which has a few stars and a remainder of mediocre athletes. The McGill team cannot be compared to either of these as yet, since none of the positions are actually filled. There is reason to believe, however, that when it starts out for Toronto it will deserve to be placed in the first of the two classes mentioned.

Yesterday a good work out was held, even though the track was slow after the heavy rain. For those who are entering the meet on Saturday morning, it was the last strenuous practice, although most of them will probably warm up to-day to avoid any danger of stiffness. As was mentioned in yesterday's "Daily" there will be a series of trials this afternoon for the upper class men. In order to see just how they are shaping up. Several men have been working hard during the summer months, and their condition will probably show up in such trials. In the distance races, it is condition which counts for most; and here are a number of men who are just waiting for a good opportunity to try and cut a few seconds off one of the records.

Tomorrow morning at ten o'clock the annual track meet between the representatives of the Freshmen and Sophomore years will be held. For several years it has been held on the first Saturday after the opening of college. It has heretofore taken place in the afternoon, but this year the football schedule allotted this date to the McGill-Queen's game at the Stadium. There will, of course, be no conflict between the meet and the game, as the one will be over about two hours before the other is scheduled to commence.

All men of the first two years are asked to register their entries at once on the lists provided for that purpose in the Union Lobby and in the field house. The lists are filling up rapidly, and it is practically certain that to-day will see a large increase in the entries.

TENNIS CLUB TOURNAMENT NEXT WEEK

Entries Open Until Saturday Noon.

RULES POSTED

New Entrants Look Promising.

The annual McGill tennis tournament which will take place next week has a larger number of entries this year than ever, and there is every prospect of its being very successful.

Owing to the rain in the last two days the time set for the entries to be handed in has been lengthened from Thursday night to Saturday noon. All entries must be posted on the list at the club house by that time. It has been decided this year to exact an entrance fee of fifty cents per person in order to meet the expense of supplying new balls etc. for the tournament. This fee can be paid to the caretaker or person in charge before playing a match.

The draw will be held some time on Saturday afternoon or evening, and will be published in Monday morning's "Daily." Play will also commence on that morning, weather permitting.

In order to prevent delay in playing off the tournament, times will be set to play the matches and any player not ready on time will lose by default. Any special rules that the committee may impose will be posted at the club house on Saturday night. The tourney is open to all members of the club and any who have not entered so far are strongly urged to put down their names. Among the more notable entries are those of Willard Crocker, who is a member of the Canadian Davis Cup Team and is practically without an equal in Canada. He won the McGill tournament last year and since then was victor in the Ontario and Quebec open championships.

'PEP' LEADLEY

To Play Centre-Half on Saturday.

Jack Wright, his team-mate on the Davis Cup Team is a very strong contender this year as is Dave Morrice, who is returning to-day from Europe where he won the doubles championship of Switzerland.

Besides these three outstanding players, Percy Douglas, Clyde Ramsay, L. Brown and Leslie, a freshman who shows great promise, are contestants. These are all excellent players, capable of giving any of the stars a good fight. If there are any dark horses in the entry list they will have a good chance to display their ability.

The prospects for the Intercollegiate team that year are very good and with such players as Wright, Morrice, Douglas, Ramsay, Brown and Leslie to pick from they should repeat their victories of the last four years.

The Queen's team have "Bud" Thomas to depend on this year; and while he is not in the same class as Jack Wright, is a hard man to beat. The Varsity team of Ham, Paterson, and the two Lyons is also a strong combination and will probably put up a good fight. However, if our men turn out to practice regularly, they should have nothing to fear.

Something funny is going to happen one of those days and we're going to surprise you by printing it.

On the average the Queens team is slightly heavier than the McGill squad the average of the former being 168½ pounds and of the latter 161 pounds. This 7½ pound advantage that McGill concedes in the game will be a considerable handicap to work under but with the proper fighting spirit the Shamrocks can win. UNION CAFETERIA

WELL KNOWN THEOLOGIAN WILL SPEAK

Rev. Principal Selbie Will Address Students.

OCTOBER 10-12

Subject to be "What is the Use of Religion?"

The co-operating Theological colleges have repeatedly brought over distinguished scholars and preachers from the motherland for their opening course of lectures. They are fortunate in their lectures for this year, for they have secured Principal Selbie of Mansfield College Oxford. The distinguished visitor, who landed on the "Andama" yesterday morning, is the successor to the great Fairbairn; but Dr. Selbie has won for himself a large place at Oxford and in Great Britain and America as scholar, theologian and preacher. There is no more prophetic voice in the Oxford of today than his. Not only in Oxford, but throughout Great Britain he is known as a Christian and national leader, especially on the Free Church of British life. No one would hear more ready witness to this man than Mr. Lloyd George, for the two men have repeatedly been associated in the educational religious affairs of their churches and country. In the Anglican Church, too, Dr. Selbie is highly esteemed, and has on different occasions preached at Cathedral Services. It was a paper by him, which aroused great enthusiasm at the Modern Churchmen's Conference two years ago, for Dr. Selbie has a way of piercing the centre with his shafts of knowledge and wisdom.

A short sketch of his career will doubtless be interesting to McGill Students.

The outward events of any scholar's life are soon told. Dr. Selbie is a son of the manse, born at Chesterfield, England, sixty-one years ago. He was educated at Manchester School, with its great traditions for scholarship and power of producing distinguished public men and never more suitably than today. He passed on to Brasenose College Oxford, and then to Mansfield College for Theology. Needless to say that throughout his career he was a brilliant student. At the close of his course in Mansfield he was appointed lecturer in Hebrew and began a career that steadily led him to the Principalship of his own College. Before returning to Oxford he served in two pastorates:— at Highgate London, and Emmanuel Church Cambridge, where he gave proof of his fine preaching gifts. Selbie was a force among the students of Cambridge before he became a prophetic voice at Oxford. Now, when he preaches, Mansfield Chapel is always crowded by students, dons, and distinguished visitors from all quarters of the globe. His place in the Academic world is measured by the honours he has won. He is a graduate both of Oxford and Cambridge Universities and Glasgow and Oxford have conferred on him the Doctorate of Divinity. The esteem in which he is held by his brethren of the Free Churches of England was seen in his election to the chairmanship of the Congregational Union of England and Wales and afterwards to the Presidency of the Free Church Federation.

Dr. Selbie is also a well known author. Both in theology and biography he has done much fine work. His lines of Schleiermacher with an appreciation of his theology, and of his own teacher Fairbairn are well known works, while his books on "Aspects of Christ," "Non-conformity" have had a wide circulation and deservedly too both in writing and in speech he is the master of a clear and effective style that leaves no doubt in regard to his meaning.

Principal Selbie is distinctly a student's man for he has had to do with students all his life. He is loved as a speaker at the Oxford Union where as distinguished visitor he has repeatedly opened the debate. Students in large numbers have always gone to hear him preach, and at conferences of the Students Christian Movement in Great Britain no one is more welcome than he. He has made a reputation for himself for balance and sanity of judgement with a progressive outlook and a modern interpretation of things as a Christian teacher he fears not knowledge, and arresting proven to all his utterances. He is emphatically a man not only to read, but to hear.

His visit to Canada is to be very short only ten days, for Oxford is in session, and his students wait his return to the other side.

His engagements in Canada include a meeting with his fellow churchmen at Toronto and the "Varsity" Sermon in the Convocations Hall Toronto on Oct. 17th but the greater part of his time will be given to Montreal where he is to lecture at the Royal Victoria College on Tuesday Oct. 9th at 8.15 on "Theology and Present Day Thought". It is the opening lecture of the Theological Colleges, but is open to the public. Many will no doubt want to hear him, for Dr. Selbie can make difficult things clear and obstructive subjects live. On the 10th Presbyterian College Hall, McTavish Street at 4.30, and also to speak on Wednesday evening— at 8.00 in Emmanuel Church, Drummond Street, at the Convocation of the Congregational College, on "What is the use of Religion?" On all these occasions students and others are cordially invited to attend.

S.C.A. TRIP TO BELOEIL SUNDAY

Plans for Year to be Made at Setting-up Conference.

About one hundred students are expected to attend the conference of the S. C. A. at Beloeil next Sunday. All day will be spent at Beloeil and a setting-up conference held at which plans will be made for the coming year's work. A good programme has been arranged as those in charge do not wish to make the day too heavy, but rather enjoyable as well as beneficial.

In the morning interest will centre on the report of the Klein House Conference. The Student's Service, conducted by students, at which Rev. Alex Kerr of the American Presbyterian Church will speak.

The party will leave Bonaventure Station at 8.30 a. m., arriving at Beloeil one hour later. The return will be by the 8.23 p. m. train. There will be a special McGill car on both trains.

Several members of the staff are expected to accompany the party and all students, including R. V. C. residents are invited to make the trip.

FRESHMEN!

Owing to the unprecedented demand song books will be on order at the office of the janitors of the various faculty buildings, for Freshmen only, who may upon presentation of their registration card place their order for the price of one dollar. This offer will remain open until after the Queen's game, when the song books will be raised again to their usual price of one dollar and a half. The Council is putting before the freshmen this special opportunity; the supply of books is limited, and any intending purchaser would do well to hand in his name at once for this collection of typical McGill songs—an invaluable accessory to a university career, an enviable compilation of student sentiment.

COMMERCE SENIORS ELECT OFFICERS

Dave Morris New President.

At a meeting of Commerce '24 held yesterday morning, the class executive for the present year was determined. Dave Morris was elected president after spirited nomination and voting. All the officers were closely contested.

The following were elected: President—Dave Morris; Vice-President—Harry Gally; Sec'y.—Treas.—Dick Wilson; Chas. Robertson, the retiring president, occupied the chair at the beginning of the meeting. Before adjourning a vote of thanks was tendered last year's officers.

SEVERE PUNISHMENT FOR UNRULY FROSH

That all freshmen disobeying any of the rules of good conduct laid down for their benefit would be severely punished was the decision arrived at at a meeting of Arts '26 held in Room 5 yesterday afternoon. President Gorrle urged all Arts '26 to be present at the Pep Rally, saying that it was up to the sophomore years to lead the way in affairs of this nature.

It was further decided that every member of the class be invested with the power of summarily punishing any member of the incoming year who might see fit to scorn the freshman regulations.

SCORES OF STUDENTS PATRONIZE CAFETERIA

Service is the by-word of the Union Cafeteria. Last evening while the Pep Rally was in progress the dining-hall downstairs was open for business. That the boys appreciated this arrangement was evinced by the numbers who dropped in for cake and coffee.

For at all times there were at least twenty partaking of refreshments. And at the conclusion of the Rally the Cafeteria was filled to the doors. The Tuck Shop also received due patronage from the audience upstairs.

Mr. Honegger announced afterward that in future light lunch would be obtainable in the Cafeteria on all nights that the students are assembled in the Union for any occasion.

UNION CROWDED BY STUDENTS

displayed much wisdom in applying to that portion of the anatomy which the University hopes to cultivate. It is the desire of the University that all her graduates be fitted to take a major part in the development of Canada.

Dean Adams related many incidents, replete with the humorous touches, all proving his theory that college education was one of the greatest assets a man can possess. There are many reasons why a man comes to college, paramount among these, of course is the desire for greater knowledge. Running a close second to this is the desire to make friends. A man who succeeds in the first of these but fails in the second, is not getting out of college all he ought. The applause was truly hearty.

MEN CHEERED SIR ARTHUR

"Here we are again," were Sir Arthur's first words to the cheering crowd, "here we are; there may be two dozen away but they are very likely in the hospital, indeed, I fail to see how so many of the men wearing red and white caps escaped uninjured, after the sophomores' strenuous actions of the last few days."

"Beat Queens" is a good motto, but it is the only one devised for a particular event, a college motto good for all times is "each for all, and all for each." It would be a great idea if the Sophomores would make the freshmen stand on a hydrant and repeat the motto which appears on the McGill crest, and which, translated into English, means, "Labor makes all things easy."

"Every man," continued the principal, who has come to McGill ought to consider himself a lucky man, lucky because he is at college, twice lucky because he is at McGill. Of the hundred men with whom a young boy starts at school, only three are with him at college.

The others have fallen by the way side. Over seventy five per cent of the men found in any "Who's Who" are college men. Only a few men now at college will make contributions to the knowledge of the world, but every one will obtain something that will make him a decent citizen imbued with the desire to help the unfortunate. At McGill it takes all that a man has in him to get his degree. It will be noticed that there are more freshmen at college than seniors, and more men in the second year than in the third. Those who fall by the way side are those who did not take the college motto seriously.

"Freshmen this year at McGill, have no doubt begun to believe that all that McGill is out to do, is to take their money, to haze them and to 'beat queens'." It is true we need the money, the freshmen need the hazing and Queens must take the licking said Sir Arthur.

The Principal spoke of the fine war record of McGill graduates. Out of 6000 nearly 2600 went overseas together with 99 of the professors. 359 were killed and over 500 wounded.

Sir Arthur emphasized that a man should not come to McGill with the idea only of acquiring knowledge that will mean financial gain in later life, but that he should develop broad sympathies for his fellowmen and be a credit to the university which is judged by its graduates. In concluding he said, "Remember you are McGill men and should be gentlemen always."

SPEAKERS DEMONSTRATED REAL FELLOWSHIP

Dr. Archibald, Professor of Surgery, said that he came to the Pep Rally, because he did not wish McGill men to think him an old plugger when all the time he felt like a great sport. Dr. Archibald, who is a graduate of old McGill played on both the Junior Football and Senior hockey teams. He is in great sympathy with sport and can still play a reasonable game of brilliant. Dr. Archibald attends football games every year and remembers well the times when McGill swept the league in 1919 and tied in 1920.

"All men can't play," concluded Professor Archibald, "but every man can turn and root, and cheer his team to victory."

Professor Caldwell, head of the department of philosophy who returned from Europe only a few days ago was the next speaker. If college men on this side of the Atlantic thought that they are alive, and that the old world is dead, he wished to rid them of some of their conceit. Europe is still the thinking part of the world. European students are now full of the highest idealism. He is especially proud of Czechoslovakia, a veritable land of enthusiasm. In the city of Prague there are some 12,000 students and one of their most popular pastimes is football.

The students lacking housing accommodation, secured for themselves a vacant lot, received a gift of lumber, and with their own hands constructed sleeping accommodation and building a club-dormitory. In addition to sleeping accommodation this building contains study rooms, lounge rooms, billiard rooms and a gymnasium. The Czechs also ran up two Russian Universities for Russian exiles.

Another building of note in Prague is the Studensky Dome, the students' house, where one can hear as many as eighteen languages.

In concluding, Dr. Caldwell, reminding McGill men that students of the old world did not wish to estrange themselves from those of the new, but to work together with them.

THE ATHLETIC MANAGER

Parkman next introduced Major Stewart Forbes, lately of Winnipeg. Major Forbes who is a graduate of McGill university figured prominently in athletics, being for three years, a member of the first football squad. He also has an excellent war record.

With an enormous McGill shield before him Major Forbes explained that the three white peaks on the McGill shield represent the three mountains of Montreal, the red represents the red blood of McGill and the white represents snow.

When Major Forbes was an undergraduate the average weight of the Varsity football team was 204 pounds while that of McGill was 192 pounds. The idea prevalent at that time was that the football field was no place for a man who weighed under 170 pounds. The major related an interesting story of how he, together with some twelve associates disproved this idea.

Since the establishment of inter-collegiate athletics, McGill has won 13 track, 5 football, and 3 hockey championships. In the no-called minor sports McGill is well ahead of both Varsity and Queens.

"A persons most necessary attribute is personality, and this can only be attained by mingling with others, and the best way to take part in as many college activities as possible," were Major Stewart Forbes' concluding words.

SHAUGHNESSY AND VAN WAGNER

When the ballroom of the union was full to overflowing the tide of rooters was turned towards the reading room on the first floor. The customary atmosphere of peace and quiet in this sanctuary was rudely stirred by the melody of many voices raised to a high pitch. All available windowsills, and chairs were occupied and attention finally centred on cheerleader, Blake Wilson, who waved a grown-up trumpet frantically in the air.

Wilson led in a few yells, and with the very effective aid of the Mandolin Club Orchestra, the two favourites "James McGill" and "Put on your Red and White sweater" were sung. Packages of cigarettes were recklessly pulled out and passed around, and the crowd sat back to listen to the orchestra play. "Yes, we have no bananas," while clouds of smoke floated upwards in the air.

"Bev" Lench acted as chairman expressing his great pleasure that the parade had been such a success. He described it as, "the best I have ever seen at McGill," and, "a fine start-off for the year."

Coch Van Wagner was given a hearty welcome as he rose to speak a few words on track work. He called to mind the fine record of McGill men and the work in past years. Out of 21 meets McGill has won 13 and Toronto 7. Each year proficiency on the track has been increasing until last, when the pinnacle of success was reached. He drew attention to the fact that the ranks of experienced men on the track squad was greatly depleted, due to the graduation of the majority of outstanding members. This, as well as the variety of events calling for every phase of physical skill, he hoped would be good reason for many men training out for the work. "What we want is the type of man who doesn't know how to quit, who can meet defeat in the same spirit as victory." While admitting the strength of the Toronto team "Van" said that it did not alter the possibility of a very close meet on the 19th at "Varsity" if there is a willing response to the call for volunteers—men who have the true spirit of the athlete, who put forth their utmost effort to win.

Again the rooters raised their voices in sweet harmony and sang, "Poor old Queens you haven't got Boo-Hoo," a sort of "Ode to the Death of the Queens Maecet." This song is the result of a report that the bear, Boo-Hoo, is either lost, strayed, or stolen from the ranks of the Presbyterians; a worthy tribute to an intelligent but misled animal.

Amid the cheers of his many admirers, Coach Shaughnessy rose to speak of "the team," and prospects for Saturday's game.

He again emphasized the necessity of a spirit of "Fight! Fight! Fight!" not alone in the ranks of the team but throughout the University. This spirit, in the mind of one who has had years of experience in coaching, counts for a great deal in keeping up the morale of the players and in winning a game. Shaughnessy does not consider lightly the strength of the Queens aggregation, a team which is almost intact since last year, and which fought through a series of games to the championship of Canada. And even considering that the squad at McGill is "a young and green team," his hopes are high. He spoke of the sacrifice the players were making in preparation for Saturday. They sleep above the dressing rooms at the stadium, go to bed at 10 P. M., get up at 8.30 and do a stiff hour's work before breakfast.

He said in part: "When Saturday afternoon comes I hope to see the benches filled to capacity with men who will cheer their comrades on to victory. Let the team know that we are behind them, that we appreciate their work."

BOO-HOO SONG

(Tune: Barney Google)

Oh McGill you surely must beat Queens,
Poor old Queens you're going to be has-beens,
M-C-G-I-L-Double L
Rip 'em up and give 'em hell.
Oh—h McGill, you surely must BEAT QUEENS.

Poor old Queens you surely feel for you Without your bear you won't be there
But our team this year is the bear,
Poor Old Queens; Boo—Hoo—Hoo—
Hoo—Hoo—Hoo.

EXECUTIVE ELECTED BY MEDICAL FROSH

H. P. Melanson was elected president of Medicine '29 at a meeting of the class held yesterday afternoon in the Physics Building. The other officers are as follows: Vice-president, C. Hooker; Secretary, C. Miller; Treasurer, H. Henry; Reporter, W. Watson; Sports Manager, W. Curran.

APPRECIATION

The members of the "Daily" staff wish to express their gratitude to the Students' Council for the refreshments with which they were served last evening.

MACGREGOR AND AMERON

"Doug" MacGregor, captain of the football team, strongly urged everyone in college to turn out and support the team this Saturday. "It is not only the twelve men in the field that are going to win the game, but also the thousands of rooters in the stand." "Doug" also asked the rooters to refrain from yelling when the Queen's quarter was attempting to give signals.

The last speaker of the evening in the ballroom was Errol C. Amaron, president of the Students' Council. Amaron pointed out that the establishment of the new Athletic Board left to the care of the Students' Council only social and cultural matters. Poor the benefit of these new to the University, he explained that the Students' Council is composed of elected men, the president of the Council, the president of the "Daily," the president of the Union and five others, one representing each of the major faculties. "Eased of the great burden of Athletics, the Council this year had been able to spend money for the services of a band master, and what effect this had may be seen from the fact that at its first practice there were four men present, while at the practice to-day there were twenty-five.

This year, the Students' Council proposed to push such deserving things as the Mandolin Club, the Glee Club, and the Literary and Debating Society. Amaron also urged McGill men to support the "Daily," by patronizing those who advertise in it.

Singing at McGill is not very strong and in order that it may be improved all freshmen were asked to take advantage of the reduced price of the McGill Song Book, by buying one at once.

All the speakers addressed both the crowd in the lounge room and in the ballroom, and everywhere received great applause. As the McGill Dance Orchestra was in the lounge room later in the evening, there this most successful Pep Rally closed with "Hail Alma Mater," the McGill yell, and "God Save the King," and the old yell echoed through the buildings as a great closing to a great night.
